Ol' 100 With F. M. L.

BEWARE THE FOX — The B. M. McCords bagged two varmints with one trap on the C. O Huffman Farm earlier this week. One was a 25 - pound fox.

Mrs. McCord reports that the fox was trapped early Monday morning. Not trusting to chance with the current rabies scare among Milam wildlife, Mrs. McCord got out a 410 shotgun and polished the animal off before trying to remove it from the trap.

100 - 100 - 100

Earlier, the same trap yielded a 35 - pound racoon.

Reason for the trap was the fox's killing chickens, about 20 of them, Mrs. McCord said.

We saw the animal. It was pretty good size. The careful manner in dealing with the creature showed that people are thinking clearly during the rabies epidemic.

100 - 100 - 100

The fox story reminds me of another we heard recently. The foxes were coming up so close to one man's house that they were carrying stuff off his backporch with lights on all around.

100 - 100 - 100

Wildlife is bountiful this year, the experts tell us. That is partially the problem in controlling wildlife in the recent state-declared rabies epidemic hereabouts. So many rats attract so many more foxes and the like. It's called a balance of nature.

Herald Running Color Each Issue For Another '1st'

The Cameron Herald is now running color each issue in its weekly edition, according to newspaper officials.

Publisher Frank Luecke said today that The Herald will have regular black and one other color in each issue of The Herald.

The Cameron newspaper introduced color service in November, 1958, as one of the first non-metropolitan weeklies in Texas to offer color facilities to Herald advertisers and subscribers.

"We believe The Herald is one of the few weeklies in the nation with color in each issue of the paper," Luecke said. "Color facilties are available in many metropolitan - area weekly newspapers and some 'country' weeklies."

Other new features introduced recently by The Herald include a new teen - age column, "Under 21" by Dan Halligan, and weekly reviews of Washington representation by Lyndon Johnson, U. S. Senate Majority leader, and W. R. Poage, congressman of th 11th Congressional District.

Color will be used in the editorial side of the newspaper as well to improve news and feature departments of The Herald.

Lignite Utilized

Waco Firm To Use Slag

ROCKDALE — A lignite by - product now is going into commercial use as the first fruit of a research program at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works.

Alcoa and Young Brothers Contractors of Waco have announced the signing of a contract to utilize Rockdale Slag Aggregate, from the power plant boilers at Rockdale Works, in an asphalt hot mix plant soon to be constructed in Rockdale.

Capable of producing 1,000 tons of asphalt mix a day, the plant will provide employment for at least five men, according to Young Brothers. The paving material provides a stable quiet, skid - resistant surface and retains a highly desirable black appearance. Young Brothers expects most of the first production to go into municipal uses in this area.

Alcoa's Rockdale aluminum smelting plant is located near deposits of lignite, the fuel used to produce the large quantities of electric power needed in the smelting process.

For seven years, Alcoa and Texas Power and Light Company have sponsored a continuing research program, which they hope eventually will produce a number of marketable lignite by products, according to R. R. Sugg, Alcoa's Rockdale Works manager.

Thus far only the residue left after the lignite is burned has been successfully marketed. Fly ash, a fine deposit from boilers, has been used successfully in oil well cementing, and in concrete work as a partial replacement for cement.

Rockdale Slag Aggregate contains a coarser residue, and can be used in the surface and base of roadways, as well as in the hot mix to be produced by Young Brothers.

Whereas the lignite now is merely dried before burning, work is proceeding on a tar extraction program. As Alcoa's marketing agent for all lignite by - products, TP & L is exploring market development possibilities with Alcoa.

During its four years of operation, a pilot carbonizer at Rockdale has produced over a million gallons of lignite tar -- some of which has been shipped to chemical and petrochemical industries for experimentation. The balance has been retained at Rockdale for use in a pilot solvent extraction plant, built by TP&L to evaluate, on a semi - commercial scale, a new tar processing method.

Census Forms Go To Area Residents

Advance report forms for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing are being distrubuted by Post Office employees to all households in this area, District Supervisor J. Fred Simon, Jr. announced today.

The Advance Report Form is a new census - taking device which is designed to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics.

Distribution of this form before the start of the house - to - house canvass gives the family a chance to assembl information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit. The district supervisor urges all residents to fill out the form and have it ready for the census takers when they start their rounds on April 1.

The Advance Report Form contains seven questions about every person in the household and six questions about the household's dwelling. The household information asked for is name, address, sex, color or race, month and year of birth, whether married or single, and relationship to head of the household. The information required about the dwelling is the number of rooms, cooking facilities, plumbing and whether rented or owned.

At every fourth household, the census taker will leave a Census household questionnaire which contains additional questions covering population and housing characteristics which are being asked of a 25 percent sample of the Nation's population.

Householders are requested to fill our the household questionnaire and mail it within three days to the local census district office. A pre - addressed, postage free envelope is being provided for this purpose.

The "sample" population questions include inquiries on country of birth, mother tongues of foreign born, schooling, employment, income and related items. The additional housing questions relate to rent or value of dwelling, heating equipment, water supply, and other facilities and equipment.

The district supervisor pointed out that information about individuals and their homes furnished to Census Bureau is kept confidential under Federal law. Only statistical totals and averages are published. No individual person can be identified in published reports and census information cannot be used for regulation, investigation or taxation.

Annual Stocking Doesn't Assure Better Fishing

AUSTIN — Rough fish always have been a big problem in Texas' lake waters, according to the director of inland fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "Our aquatic biologists are working with this problem daily, attempting to discover new techniques for controlling undesirable fish."

According to the director, restocking lakes annually with fingerling bass is not the answer to the problem. "Quite a number of persons feel that adding more bass fry each year would result in maintaining ideal bass population in our lakes. Unfortunately, this is not so," said the director. "Most often, stocking game fish fry only provides a small meal for fish already present in the lake."

Several methods for reducing undesirable fish numbers are being tested on various lakes across the State. One method is to stock predator fish that would feed on young rough fish, in an effort to obtain a natural or biological control on the numbers of rough fish. Biologists are continuously experimenting with this method, such as the introduction of walleyed-pike, redfish, flathead catfish, and others. Another method being used on many lakes today, is the treatment of lakes with rotenone fish toxicant for complete kills and then restocking with desired species or reducing overabundant forage fish, such as the gizzard shad, through "selective kills" with rotenone.

"Actually," declared the director, "spawning bass can easily supply a lake with the needed fry since each adult female can lay thousands of eggs. But young rough fish compete with the young game fish and eliminate much of their food, preventing their growth. When you can't catch lots of bass, remember, when plenty of natural food is available, bass are not as apt to hit an artificial lure."

Program Announced For Swine Short Course At Texas A & M

COLLEGE STATION — Raising more pigs per litter and growing more pounds of pork on less feed are major program objectives of the ninth annual Swine Short Course to be held at Texas A & M College, April 4-5.

The meeting is sponsored by the Texas Swine Breeders Association and the Animal Husbandry Department of the Texas A & M College System. Expected highlights of the short course, according to T. D. Tanksley, extension swine specialist, are the carcass evaluation contest and third auction sale of production tested boars which will be held at the Animal Husbandry Pavilion, April 4 at 5:30 p. m.

In the carrass contest the 112 pigs entered by Texas producers went on feed between January 2-15 weighing from 40 to 100 pounds. By short course time, they will be ready for slaughter and the carcass evaluation phase of the test. The boars to be sold were placed on test last October and November and all will have rate of gain, feed efficiency and meat-type records, Tanksley said.

As for the speakers and discussions, Tanksley said both would be tops. President T. Euel Liner, Texas Swine Breeders Association, Lubbock, will preside over the business sessions of the Association and many other Association members will have leading roles in the activities of the short course. Two out - of - state speakers, Bernard Ebbing, Rath Packing Company, Waterloo, Iowa, and Olle Dahl, Scanian Cooperative Bacon Factories, Malmo, Sweden, will have featured spots on the program, said Tanksley.

Other speakers will be Jay Naman, president, Texas Hog Marketing Association, Valley Mills; Vic Ball, head hog buyer, Swift & Company, Fort Worth; O. A. White, manager, Cameron Livestock Auction; and Dr. R. M. Titsworth, veterinarian, both of Cameron; and still others will be from the A & M system.

President Earl Rudder of Texas A & M College will present the awards to the owners of the winning hogs in the carcass contest and to the judging winners. Dr. O. D. Butler, head, Animal Husbandry Department, will conclude the short course program with his summary and conculsions.

Young Turkey Poults Require Much Care

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Turkey poults, like the young of most animals, require much care during the first few weeks of life. R. L. Atkinson, assistant professor in the poultry science department of Texas A & M College, says that the primary requirements of a successful brooding operation include: A sanitary enviroment which is free of disease organisms, Sufficient heat (enought to keep the birds comfortable. A well-balanced all - mash ration, Ample fresh, clean water, and Plenty of fresh air.

During the first 10 days, the poults should be given a balanced, high nutritious, and well fortified all - mash prestarter ration. This ration should contain 23 per cent protein; have a calorie - protein ration of about 30 to 1; be well fortified with vitamins, minerals and antibiotics; and contain a good coccidiostat. The use of Furizolidone (NF-180) also is recommended to prevent infections.

The prestarter ration should be followed with a 28 per cent protein starter. This ration should be fed through the eight week and should be a well balanced and highly fortified diet containing a good coccidiostat and a combination of two or more antibiotics. Furizolidone (NF-180) also may be used.

Atkinson points out that the use of colored whey during the first few days will help in eliminating "starve - outs". The poults will pick at the brightly colored pieced of dried whey and, in this way, will start eating much faster. Whey mixed in the feed is more costly and does not seem to be as effective as a small amount of colored whey sprinkled on top of the feed two or three times a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Michalka and children from Sour Lake Mr. and Mrs. George Michalka and daughter from Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michalka from Commerce and Miss Ann Michalka from Temple all spent the weekend with their mother Mrs. Joe Michalka.

Knowing Plentiful Foods Aids In Meal Planning

COLLEGE STATION — A bit of planning ahead makes a big difference in meal preparation just as it does in other efforts.

And a wise menu planner knows the food items that are in abundant supply and available for careful selection and economy. That's one reason the U. S. Department of Agriculture prepares a monthly list of plentiful foods, says food specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station.

What will be plentiful in April?

Cranberry products head the list. Supplies of colorful cranberry sauce and juice are large enough to encourage wise use of this food all month according to figures of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

That's a happy selection because cranberries go so well with all of the plentiful meats -- pork, including ham for Easter; broilers and fryers and shrimp. Other high protein plentiful foods are eggs, milk and dairy products and peanuts and peanut butter.

Biologist Says Fish Tanks-Ponds Should Be Fertilized

AUSTIN — "In recent years, in America, the idea of fertilization has been transferred to the raising of fish," states Lou Guerra in an article, "Fish Pond Fertilization," in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish. "The object here has not been specifically to increase the yield of water to produce the additional food but to cause the production of greater quantities of sport fish to improve the lost of the sport fishermen."

Water fertilization encourages microscopic algae growth. Zooplankton feed on this algae and then become choice food for insects and young fish. The insects and small fish become the nourisment of still larger fish, which in the end are targets for sportsmen who usually catch and eat these larger ones.

"In other words," writes Guerra, aquatic biologist for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, "the addition of fertilizer to the water increases the nutrient material needed by the tiny plants and animals which form the basis of the food chain. Thus, fertilizing small ponds and lakes leads to better fishing."

The author explains that fertilizer is identified by the number or ratio of its main ingredients which are nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. The type of fertilizer needed in a particular pond would depend on the type, texture, chemical composition of the soil, use of the land, type of vegetation present or desired, whether the water is acid or alkaline, and various other factors.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Reynolds and daughter, Barbara Ann have returned from a visit with their son Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Reynolds and family in Big Springs Texas.

County Agents Notes

Local Man To Be On Program

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Dr. Robert Titsworth, local veterinarian and O. A. White, manager of the local Livestock Commission Company, will appear as panelist on the program during the Swine Short Course to be held at A & M College on April 4 and 5.

White will be a member of the panel to discuss the MERIT OF MARKETING HOGS, at 1 to 2 p. m. on April 4.

Dr. Titsworth will be a member of the panel group to discuss DISEASES AND PARASIETS of swine at 8 p. m. Monday evening, April 4. This column salutes these two men for their leadership and contribution to the livestock industry of Milan County.

Results of the carcass tests will be announced during the short-course. Henry Richter and Henry W. Abel, local swine men, have entries in the carcass demonstration.

Plans complete for 1960 cage clinic - The annual Cage Clinic, sponsored by the Poultry Science Department, Ttxas A & M System, will be held on March 30. The meeting is scheduled for the Ballroom of the Memorial Student Center on the A & M College campus.

W. F. Rooney, extension poultryman from Calif, will discuss LAYING HOUSE MANAGEMENT PRACTICES AND WHAT CALIFORNIA EGG PRODUCTION COST SUMMARIES SHOW. Wormeli says the work in that state has been outstanding and Rooney's review should be of interest to all commercial egg producers.

Dr. A. W. Jasper, American Farm Bureau Federation, Chicago, will tell the clinic audience which is expected to number around 500, Where And How The Table Of Eggs Of Tomorrow Will Be Produced. His work in the Bureau's commodity division gives him an opportunity to study closely egg production and problems in all sections of the nation.

The third out - of - state speaker will be Dr. Fred T. Shultz, consulting geneticist for Colonial Poultry Farms, Livermore, Calif. He will discuss how the science of genetics is used to improve egg production. From 1949 to 1958, the annual egg production per hen in the U. S. increased from 170 to 201 eggs and improvements in breeding are considered major facts, according to Wormili.

Increasing Cattle Bloat Is Causing Losses In Texas

COLLEGE STATION — Bloat is causing increasing cattle losses in Texas, especially along the Gulf Coast where cattle are allowed to graze young legume pastures. A severe hay shortage has made the problem even more serious.

Hay or cottonseed hulls are the best preventatives, but if not available, use any dry, palatable roughage available, advised Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian. It is a good management practice to have the animals well-filled on dry roughage before starting legume grazing, and to feed at least small amounts of dry roughage as long as the legumes are soft and fast growing, he adds.

Many cattle feeders prefer cottonseed hulls because they are easy to feed without waste and appear to be especially well adapted to preventing bloat because of their capacity for water absorption. Also, hulls are easily mixed with cottonseed meal, molasses, or other ingredients which add sufficient palatability to insure the cattle eating enough roughage.

When cattle are turned on young legume pasture for the first day, be sure they are well - filled on roughage or more mature pasture forage, and have plenty of fresh water available, continues the veterinarian. Mid-day or early afternoon is a better time to start than early morning, and avoid grazing when the young legumes are covered with dew or wet from rain. It is sometimes best to let the cattle graze only a short time the first day if they appear to be eating heavily. If cattle are removed from the young legume grazing, the same precautions must be observed in starting them back on the legumes, Dr. Patterson says.

Physicians used to prescribe cosmetics, as well as pills, before they became too busy treating the sick.

Records Fall At YHS Meet

View On Sports

By ROBERT MANN

For the first time in three years the Cameron Relays saw good weather. The relays were held here last Saturday under warm, sunny skies.

One fan made the statement to a friend that it was good to see him out in the sun, "in fact," he said, "it is good to see anybody out in any sun."

One thing was sure, Jim Speer, Yoe Coach, was were pleased with the presence of Sophomore Steve Malone at the meet. Malone's remarkable 17½ points was an all - time high for an individual in the relays.

VOS

District meet is coming up on a Thursday this year, April 14th to be exact and since Cameron bested all its opponents in the relays Saturday, including the dreaded "Big Red" bunch from Belton, the meet could be quite a race.

It could be close from three viewpoints. Belton and Cameron appear to have the number one and two points sewed according to Saturday's results, but Rogers is developing a strong track team that could knock points off of either team's total. That could be damaging.

Rosebud has pole vaulter Eddie Swanzy that is capable of edging over the 11 foot mark while Cameron's having trouble getting anyone over nine feet.

Carroll Fikes is the number one candidate for vaulting and with a little luck and added work, Jim Speer thinks he could deliver the punch needed.

Hearne doesn't appear to be much of a threat going by their scanty performance here Saturday.

VOS

Slavik's 1954 brilliant red Studebaker turned the quarter - mile stretch in 17.6 seconds for the trophy.

Two other local boys participated in the running, one in E and F stock, the other in the strips top raking classes.

ON TO VICTORY — Cameron's Steve Malone sails over the last hurdle as he races to victory in the 180 yard low hurdles. In the background is part of the crowd which attended the relays. Although four records were broken it was this 16 year old Yoe sophomore that the fans were watching. — Staffoto

Yoemen Rank Third In Cameron Relays Saturday

Cameron faired third in a field of 17 high school contestants competing in the 25th annual Cameron Relays held here last Saturday. Taylor was the winner of the meet with 31 points to their credit, while University of Waco, ranked second with 27½. Cameron got 21, and Brenham 18¼ for a close 4th place finish.

Steve Malone, Yoe sophomore was the local star of the day winning three first places and one second. He accounted for 17½ of Cameron's 21 tallies, and was high point man of the meet.

Four records were broken in the course of the day. Dub Allen setter of last year's mile mark, topped his own achievement this year with a 4 minute, 35 second mile. Allen's a University High boy.

A 23 - year old mark was broken by Rex Wittaker of University High in the pole vaulting event with a leap of 11 feet and four inches. The old mark of 11 feet, three inches was set in 1937 and tied again in 1938.

The meet got underway at 10:15 and the finals were run off in the evening instead of at night as earlier planned due to the small number of school present. A large crowd was present at both showings.

The field events were held in the morning along with preliminary track events. The discus throw was won by Thorndale's Don Evans with a toss of 142 feet, 11½ inches. High jump champion was Cameron's Steve Malone, last year's winner, he was good for a 5 feet, 8 inch leap.

Malone was also winner in the 120 High Hurdle dashes with a 15.7. He took the 180 yard low herdles with a 21.4. His second place ribbon was for a tie in the broad jumping event, he and Richard Dyess of Rogers had 19 feet and 9 inch marks.

Carrol Fikes and Roy Wohleb of Cameron placed in the 180 yard low hurdles behind Lierman with a 21.8 mark for Fikes, while Wohleb placed 4th.

The 100 yard dash final was swept by Jan Mohel of Taylor with a pace setting mark of 10.4. Cameron's contestants in the event were Ed Lierman and Douglas Parker.

The 440 yard relay was won by Taylor's team consisting of Ford, J. Davis, I. N. Davis, and Mohel with a 44.8 time, 2 - tenths of a second short of tieing a relay record. Brenham ran a close second in the relay.

Mile relay honors were taken by Taylor also, with a 3 minute, 35 second and 2 tenths mark. University High ranked a close second. Belton's Wilhite ran a 22.6 on the 220 yard dash for the top place.

Four good times were recorded in the 440 dash, Belton of University High coming out on top with a 51.8, Flatt of Mexia, second with a 52.4 and Taylor and University High tied for third with 53 second times.

Out of the 20 expected schools, 17 shown up. They were as follows with the number of points meet proceeding their names. Taylor 31, Belton 19, Cameron 21, University High of Waco 27½, Brenham 18¼, Thorndale 15½, Marlin 5, Rogers 4½, Rosebud 3, Manor 3, West 2, and Llano and Hearne 0.

Supt. Wiley Loughmiller awarded the medals and trophies at lapse intervals during the meet and following the meet. The cost of the awards amounted to about 150 dollars, Loughmiller said.

Track coach Jim Speer and his assistants were in charge of the tracks preparations and the participants, all the officials and helpers did their share in making the meet one of Cameron's best.

HIGH POINT MAN & COACH — Steve Malone of Cameron smiles as he and Coach Jim Speer hold the awards he won at the Cameron Relays. Malone won both the low and high hurdles and the high jump. He tied for second in the broad jump and ran a good quarter in the mile relays. — Staffoto

"High Point Man" Won By Malone

For the first time in Cameron Relay history, 25 years old last Saturday, the local Yoemen have had the honor of taking home the trophy marked, "High Point Man, young man responsible for this is high school sophomore Steve Malone.

When the award was given out, no suprise to the fans at the meet, people wanted to konw just who he was. Malone had merrily walked out of a 45 minute P. E. class into the Central Texas Hall of Fame, a feat not often accomplished by 16 year olds.

The 155 pound, 5 foot, ten inch ycungster outdid 300 other meet competitors. Among them were high school stars like Belton's Richard Inman, Thorndale's Don Evans, and University High's Dub Allen.

His 17½ points practically carried Cameron to the third place finish in the meet. Cameron's total was 21 tallies. The 17½ was the top number of points ever recorded in the meet.

If rapid sports fans in the Cameron area will think back to the 58 - 59 basketball seasons they'll recall Malone's name, a freshman then, he made the A squad basketball team with ease, whet on and led the Yoemen baseball also.

This was his second year to establish himself in the meet, last year he placed high in 2 field events.

Malone's climb to fame has gone in streaks. He played football in the latter part of the eight grade. When he finally got on the gridiron he went wild and stamped against other 13 - year old competition. At the 8th grade graduation ceremonies he was named Ada Henderson's top student and received a merit award from the Amrican Leigion for the School's Best Citizen.

Malone, capable of placing well in any track and field events has the markings of a natural athlete and is described by his coaches as being the one "dream boy" out of a million.

His scholastic records are certainly no let down, he maintains A & B averages in all classes and is the president of Cameron Explorer Scout Post.

If not for the urging of Coach Jim Speer Malone may very well not have been out for track. Speer works him hard and fast in his 45 minute P. E. workouts every day, though he may as well tell him what to do and leave the field for Malone has a reputation of self discipline and appears to have more stamina and less complaining about hard workouts than any athlete seen around Cameron in a good while.

When asked how he felt about the award, Malone looked up with his 16 year - old grin and said, "Well, I'm happy about it, I guess."

CITY . . .

City's Growth Cycle

A recent report from the Texas Municipal League showed that the average growth of 208 reporting towns under 10,000 was 40 percent during the past decade. Meanwhile, Cameron showed a 44 percent growth (estimated) from the 1950 population of 5,052 to about 7,200 in 1960.

This would suggest that Cameron has shown considerably more growth than is at first apparent. And like the cause of the other towns showing gains, Cameron's gain came with Alcoa at Rockdale and a shift of rural population to the city.

Rockdale itself was in the top 20 cities in Texas in rate of growth with a 173 percent gain from 2,341 in 1950 to an estimated 6,400 in 1960.

It is interesting to note the gains in percentages of nearby Central Texas towns under 10,000. For instance:

Belton	9,750	6,746	45
Rockdale	6,100	2,341	173
Hearne	6,000	4,872	25
Georgetown	5,800	4,951	17
McGregor	5,250	2,669	97
Calvert	2,561	2,548	0.05
Caldwell	2,500	2,109	18
Rosebud	2,340	1,730	35
Cameron	7,200	5,052	44

Except for Rockdale and McGregor, the city of Cameron has enjoyed as large a growth cycle in the past 10 years as any Central Texas City.

In a sense, Cameron has a healthier growth cycle than the other major population gainers. Cameron's estimated 44 percent growth was independent of metropolitan area development or one-economy surges.

McGregor, for instance, grew a great deal due to the large fuel plant there. Belton showed a 45 percent gain in the midst of growth in the Temple-Belton-Killeen area.

Much of the remaining Cen-Tex town's growth was due to the influx of people from the farm.

The Texas Municipal League says that "Texas small towns will general register steady rates of growth on the 1960 U. S. Census in April."

Researchers opined: "Growth begets growth. As metropolitan Texas grows during the 1960's, small town Texas will benefit with the re-awakening of local agriculture and resources supply activity, development of small manufacturing operations, and other supporting operations necessary to sustain the metropolitan populace."

There is reason for optimism in Cameron and throughout Central Texas. The past 10 years showed substantial gains in these towns. And with revitalized interest in the fullest development of all our resources and our abilities, Cameron will look to grow along with Milam County during the next 10 years.

COUNTY . . .

Sun Shines Down

Milam County farmers can look forward to a good planting season if the clear weather continues for another two weeks.

All reports show that conditions were reaching ideal conditions during the past weekend. Soil moisture was high and farmers were awaiting the rise in temperature and drying to topsoil before planting maize and corn.

With favorable conditions, cotton will be planted by early April.

County agriculture leaders said that maize and corn would be the first crops planted, followed by cotton. Cantaloupes would be the first truck crop in the ground to be followed soon by other produce crops like watermelons and tomatoes.

The thing that we need the most now we are getting — and that is sunshine.

NATION . .

Truth Uninteresting?

The U. S. heard so much about Sputnik and Lunik when the Russians sent them into orbit in 1957 that they changed the whole national attitude toward defense and education.

But national headlines have not been so vociferous about the 90-pound satellite sent aloft by the U. S. recently that is more than a million miles from earth at this moment and heading for Venus.

Presumeably it is not news any more to send satellites into orbit, no matter how far.

It is popular to view the other fellow's pasture as "always greener". We wonder if overenthusiasm for something new in the headlines has not allowed Propaganda Master Khrushchev to manipulate Russian science in terms of anticipated reaction by the Western press.

And in turn, the American people are more greatly impressed by "mystic" Russian scientific achievement than their own nation's production, whether or not is favorable.

We view the whole scene with skepticism. Every body is fighting the "battle of the headlines" and compromising the less-facinating truth.

Demo Convention Set For June 14

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Texas Democrats have marked June 14 on their calendars. Austinites have circled it in red.

June 14 is the day some 5,000 Texas Democrats will converge on the Capital City for their state convention.

It will be the first time in recent memory that the huge colorful gathering has come to Austin. A large new city auditorium and convention center makes it possible.

It's the day that comes only once every four years when Texans name delegates to a national presidential nominating convention.

But most excitement centers on the fact that Texas Democrats will be assuming what is usually a once - in - a - lifetime role — that of sponsoring a major contender for the presidential nomination.

Work is under way in every part of the state to insure that the delegates to Austin will give rousing support to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for favorite son nominee and chairman of the Texas delegation to Los Angeles.

Senator Johnson's chances of becoming president were re - emphasized by Gov. Price Daniel and cheered by the State Democratic Executive Committee when the party leaders met to plan the June convention.

Committee members selected Dallas for the second state Democratic convention on September 20. Their meeting also was made an occasion for honoring Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin for a quarter century of loyal service to the Texas Democratic party.

COURT REJECTS VOTE HASSLE

Texas Supreme Court refused to consider a direct appeal from the City of Austin that it order a complete recount of votes in a hotly contested urban renewal election.

Issue has had Austinites in a stew for months. It was originally announced after the election in December that urban renewal had carried by a 52 - vote margin. Eight property owners contested the election results on grounds that ballots that it was impossible to qualified to vote.

After 9 of 18 contested boxes had been opened, District Judge James K. Evetts of Belton declard the election void. He said thate were so many disqualified billots that it was impossible to determine the election outcome.

Austin's city attorney petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Evetts to open and examine all the ballot boxes. He contended the qualified voters had a right to have their votes counted.

Having lost out on a direct plea to the Supreme Court, City Attorney Doren Eskew said he would go through the usual appeal route, going first to the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

COLLEGE HOME DELAYED

Governor Daniel's office and the Legislative Budget Board are to make a "Full review" before plans proceed to build an $87,000 home for the president of Sam Houston State Teachers College.

A number of legislators hit the ceiling last session over similarly costly homes built for presidents of Southwest Texas State College and Stephen F. Austin State College. Restrictions were writtin into the current appropriations bill aimed at preventing further expenditures on such a scale.

Rep. James M. Cotten, member of the House committee on saving taxes, wrote the governor to protest what he called a "tremendous waste."

Governor Danile said he had been assured by the chairman of the Board of Regents for State Teachers' Colleges that no action would be taken until everyone interested had had his say. He pointed out, however, that the home was to be built from constitutionally allocated funds to which the legislative appropriations "have been held not to apply."

LITTLE RIVER Philosopher

THIS WEEK:

Discovers That Khrushchev Can Come Down With The Common Flu

Dear editar:

There are some things you read in the newspapers that are hard to believe.

For example, I was glancing over a paper last night which I hauled off and bought when I was in town earlier in the day, that's right, I bought it, and read a headline that absolutely buffaloed me.

The headline said: "Khrushchev postpones Paris visit due to Flu."

Well, at first I thought maybe there was an epidemic of flu in Paris and Khrushchev was waiting for it to clear up and grinning at the French for being so backward, but when I read the article, I discovered it meant Khrushchev himself had the flu.

That floored me. You mean to say the Russians have common ailments just like the rest of the human race? I had been led to believe the Russians were immune to all diseases, all feeling. All they had to do was tell a bunch of scientists to whip a given problem by the first of next month, and it was automatically whipped. Want a guided missile capable of hitting a pin point 5000 miles away? All Khrushchev had to say was, Build it, and a month later they had one, which blasted off perfectly the first time it was fired. Need half a million soldiers ready in the morning to "protect" Hungary from the Hungarians? Just order them up, and by sunrise there they are. Need 20,000 more scientist? Just tell the Russian schools to produce them by the end of the semester.

But this idea that the tireless Khrushchev, who knows everything about everything, can come down with the common flu, the same as you and me, throws me for a loss. It makes a man begin to doubt that Russian science has the answer for everything, and makes him suspect that maybe somewhere back in the dark interior of that big country there are abandoned nose cones and pieces of rockets that fizzled out the first few dozen times they were put on the launching pad.

The idea that a dictator can have the flu is positively ridiculous, but still a little encouraging.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Johnson, Poage Discuss Issues

Senate . . .

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson said Sunday use of earth-orbiting satellites offers a limitless potential of benefits to all mankind.

In a radio broadcast recorded for home - state constituents in Texas, Johnson discussed use of satellites for radio communication and weather forecasting.

He said experts predict that weather - observing satellites would not only enable scientists to forecast normal weather conditons, but quickly detect the threat of disastrous floods, earth - sweeping windstorms and crop - killing droughts.

Johnson, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences, said committee witnesses estimated radio communication satellites, probably not in final form, would be developed within five or six years.

No one, he said, could predict all the uses to which satellites will be put. However, he quoted space scientists as predicting satellites will soon serve as a vital link in world - wide communication, for increasingly accurate weather forecasting, in mapping and navigation, and, finally, in space travel itself.

"These are the goals to which our nation is moving - the peaceful crossing for the benefit of all mankind" of the space frontier, Johnson said.

The Small Watershed Flood Prevention Program is probably our most vital conservation program. It is administered by the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture because there is simply no way of separating soil and water conservation is the upper reaches of our streams where most of our water falls. If that water can be so directed as to move slowly, much of it will sink into the ground and the streams will have time to carry the balance to the sea. That is why we call this a Flood Prevention Program. It prevents the occurrence of floods.

The first Flood Prevention Program in Central Texas was on the Cow Bayou. This was a demonstration project in which the Federal Government paid all the costs except rights - of - way. Our State law has not authorized any local organization which can distribute these costs. Federal money has been available for several years to complete this project but could not be used because there was no local organization. I understand this money will be used for other purposes next fiscal year.

The first locally sponsored project approved in Texas was the Lower Brushy. This project is well under way. There are now three other projects in our district which have been approved for construction, and several others which have been approved for surveying.

There has been a great increase in approved projects all over the United States. For a time we, in Texas, were able to do more work than some of our neighbors because our State S. C. S. office at Temple moved our projects along faster and was able to use money which is available. The total appropriation for 1959 was only $25,500,000 but there was a carry-over of $16,795,833, which actually gave us over 42 million to spend.

Night Hunters Keep Wardens Busy In February

AUSTIN — Night hunters kept game wardens busy in February according to the monthly report of the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

Thirty - five arrests were made for illegal night hunting and headlighting of game animals. At the same time, wardens arrested 37 persons for fishing without a license. A 2.15 license is required for all persons between 16 and 65 who fish with a rod and reel. This includes saltwater fishing.

Ten hunters found out they couldn't get away with killing deer out of season. Several others wee booked for killing ducks, geese, quail, and squirrel after the season closed. In all there were 213 arreests, which brought fines and court costs to $7,947.29 for the month.

Reportable Diseases

Census Takers To Attend Training Sessions April 1

Census Takers who will visit every dwelling unit in the area during the 1960 Census of Population and Housing which starts April 1 will participate in three training sessions next week, District Supervisor J. Fred Simon, Jr. announced today.

The training sessions, to be conducted by crew leaders, will be held on March 28, 29, and 30. Emphasis will be placed on the importance of a systematic, though canvass of every dwelling unit during the census to insure a complete count. Class room training will cover proper manner of asking questions, use of the Census questionnaire, Census definitions and map reading.

Map reading is an important census - taking technique since, without maps, defining the limits of each district to which a census taker is assigned, the job would be a welter of confusion. About 250,000 maps have been prepared for the 1960 Census. This provides an individual map for each of the 250,000 districts into which the country has been divided for the census. Every census taker will be furnished with a map of his district. As they make their rounds, census takers will be required to canvass every street and road and visit every housing unit within the boundaries of their assignments shown on these maps.

Think Over All Phases Of Question Before Going Steady

by Dan Halligan

DEAR DAN: Two of us in our high school band have written a popular song which we think is pretty good. No one else knows about it yet because we want to keep it a secret until we have it published or at least heard by a song publisher. The trouble is that we don't know how to go about contacting a song publisher. Can you help? Any advice will be appreciated. - B. C. and Drummer Boy

Dear Boys: Your song may be "Pretty good" or "pretty bad," depending on the judgement of professionally qualified to answer which I'm not. Why not take your band instructor into your little secret? If the song is good as you seem to think, he may be able to give you that advice about marketing it.

If the song isn't quite as good as you think, he may be able to offer some suggestions for improving it. Even if the song doesn't make the hit parade, remember, success never comes easy. Lots of luck.

Dear Dan: I have one of those "small brother" problems you always hear about. My boy friend is usually at the house about 15 minutes early for our date and as a result, I'm still dressing and my 12 - year - old brother is making a pest of himself. Mom and Dad side with my brother, saying, "He's just a boy." He's not, he's really a little monster and he annoys and embarrasses my boy friend. What can I do to make my brother behave? Thank you. Francine

Dear Francine: Your boy friend is actually bringing the trouble on himself by getting to your house so early. Tell him not to come so early or if you don't want to do that, be ready 15 minutes early for your dates. When your brother sees you're either ready early or your boy friend isn't quite as prompt, he'll find a new form of amusement other than heckling your boy friend. Is your brother really a monster?

Dear Dan: I'm a Methodist and the girl I date quite often is a Presbyterian. She's asked me a couple of different times to attend church services with her but so far I've made excuses. I don't know if I'd feel right walking nto another church or if it would even be proper. What do you think? - Jack M.

Dear Jack: No matter what your religion, never worry about "not feeling right" in a church other than the one you reguarly attend. Remember, God is in all churches. Whether or not it would be proper, as you mean the work, is only for your mniister to say. Why not ask him and follow his advice?

Dear Dan: I'm 13 and my mother won't let me wear lipstick to school even though I've told her most of the girls in my class do wear it. She says I'm not as old as I think but she's not being fair. Don't you think girls of my age should be allowed to wear lipstick to school? — Annette.

Dear Annette: If wearing lipstick has the approval of your principal, then I think your mother should allow you to wear it but in moderation only. Moderation in this case means only a slight touch bring added color to your lips. However, if your mother still says "No," remember, she's the boss and that's it.

Dear Dan: Are Red Foley and Pat Boon related? There's a 50-cent bet on this queston, so please answer soon. -- Carol M.

Dear Carol: Red is Pat's father-in - law. Did you win the bet?

Local Station Managers Attend Houston Convention

Four Humble Oil & Refining Company service station managers from the Cameron area attended the sixth annual Humble Manager's Convention in Houston Monday and Tuesday.

More than 160 sales representatives from Humble's southeast marketing area participated in the convention that was to help the sales managers improve their operations and analyzed what the new decade holds for them. Similar conventions have been scheduled for Dallas, Odessa, Phoenix, Albuquerque, and San Antonio.

Attending were B. F. Grimes, Littleton C. Barrett, and A. B. Covey of Cameron and R. C. Richards of Rockdale.

The Charles H. Pollard Family of Houston were guests in the home of Mrs. Pollard's mother, Mrs. John Rinn of Cameron this weekend.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

A highway marker near Brownsville designates Resaco de la Palma, scene of an early battle in the U. S. — Mexico war:

Sitting in the El Jardin lobby in Brownsville, TV viewers see and hear a commercial for orange juice -- Florida orange juice!

In Harlingen, one of those tiny foreign cars was parked with a sign painted on it, "Go around -- not over".

Just out of Harlingen at a roadside stand was this sign, "Strawberries -- 4 for $1" -- Texas really must grow big strawberries! (Someone said it meant four boxes for a dollar.)

Paging Major Hoople! San Benito has an Owls Club.

A Harlingen man in a cafe complained that half the time he bit the filter end of the cigaret. He said, "They ought to put the filter in the middle."

Real bargain in New Braunfels, "Hambugers, 20 cents; 5 for 99 cents."

In an Austin store window featuring "Luggage for your trip to Europe," one piece of luggage was priced at $231. If I bought that for my trip to Europe, the trip would be off.

When I arrived in Eastland in the summer of 1921 to become editor of the Daily Oil Belt News, the courthouse was a red brick structure, trimmed in stone. The building was three stories high. It is interesting to know that the edifice cost $49,000.

Also as showing how times change, shortly before the discovery of oil (1917) in the county, Eastland's business establishments included blacksmith shops, two livery stables and a wagon - yard.

Casey Jones is the most famous of all the thousands of men who have ever worked on railroads. Why? Because someboyd wrote a song about him.

William F. Cody killed on Indians in combat. Some historians dispute that he did even this.)
